Luiz Pereira

Front End developer with 3 years of professional experience and a strong background in React.js. Currently pursuing a bachelor's degree in computer science. My focus lies in crafting user interfaces and enhancing user experiences. Actively seeking a role as a Web developer to further leverage my skills and contribute to challenging projects in the field.

Experience

Full Stack Developer	Nova Tendência	May 2023 - Current

- Contributed to the development of web apps with high traffic and significant volumes of data using React.js, Redux for state management, and Material UI for user interface components.
- Participated in the implementation of strategies to ensure the scalability of the application, meeting the growing demands of users. Utilized Jest for comprehensive testing to maintain code quality and reliability.
- Worked on large-scale projects and solved challenges associated with high application usage.

Front End Developer	Softeam	September 2021 - May 2023

- Developed and maintained several web apps using React, Tailwind CSS for efficient styling, and Node.js, resulting in better user experience and greater efficiency for customers.
- Collaborated with cross-functional teams, including designers and product managers, to conceptualize and release new features. Utilized Figma for design collaboration and prototyping.
- Contributed to the implementation of TypeScript to enhance code quality and maintainability, resulting in more robust and scalable applications.
